

ONLINE TRAINING PACKAGING PRINTING

Troubleshooting in gravure packaging printing

Why should I attend this online training?

This online training will enable you to identify printing errors and define the right corrective measures. In this training course on troubleshooting in gravure packaging printing, you will gain insight into possible causes of printing errors and how to resolve them. We will discuss the most important parameters and their effect on the printing process. The causes of errors are explained in detail and methods for troubleshooting and optimization are shown. To ensure that the knowledge is conveyed in a practice-oriented manner, we show presentations with print samples as well as video clips from the W&H Technology Center. We show typical errors, their correction and the effects on printing with the inspection system on the press.

Training content
